

The battle for Libya: Killings, disappearances and torture

Written by Amnesty International

Sunday, 02 October 2011 14:44 - Last Updated Sunday, 02 October 2011 15:32

Index Number: MDE 19/025/2011

Date Published: 13 September 2011

Categories: Libya

<http://www.amnesty.org/en/library/info/MDE19/025/2011/en>

In mid-February 2011 Libyans called for a "Day of Rage" against the iron-fist rule of Colonel Mu'ammarr al-Gaddafi, in power since 1969. The protests were met with lethal force. By early March the uprising had evolved into an armed conflict between forces loyal to Colonel al-Gaddafi and armed protesters coalesced into a loosely structured force led by the newly established National Transitional Council. This report documents serious and widespread human rights violations by al-Gaddafi forces and also abuses committed by the opposition.

Cliquez-ici pour télécharger le document pdf